Can you fit a cake in my laser mouse? What's the difference between Photoshop Elements and Photoshop? Photoshop Elements is a free, easy-to-use graphics editor for serious hobbyists and also for people who do not have the skills or time to edit or create images. Photoshop is a full-featured graphics program used by professionals. It is more powerful than Photoshop Elements but also more complex to use. Both are available as desktop or laptop computer programs. Photoshop Elements is a non-destructive editing program. After you apply a change to an image, it's permanently stored in the image file. When you go back to the original image and save it, the change you made is not lost. You can make changes to multiple images and then view them all at the same time. Version and supported Operating Systems Adobe Photoshop Elements For Windows and Mac (Mac) Adobe Photoshop Elements For Windows For Windows 10, 8.1, 8, 7, Vista, XP and Mac OS X 10.6 and earlier Adobe Photoshop Elements For Linux Adobe Photoshop For Windows and Mac Developers Required: Python 2.5 and up. EPA Shatters New $60 Million Plant What were they thinking? That's what local residents say after discovering the EPA was planning a $60 million chromium production facility in their neighborhood. Now I'll give the EPA credit. They are prepared to do their homework, they are prepared to do their due diligence. They have right on their side. On top of that they know we love the environment. And they know that we want to keep the air clean and they've been doing everything they can to protect the air that we breathe. They have every reason in the world to see that this facility will be the best it can be to help protect the environment. That's it. That's their whole explanation. There's a way to turn a plant into a thing of beauty that protects the environment, that keeps the air clean. There are certainly ways to turn a plant into a massive waste-basket that just contributes to the general problem. But if you're going to build any plant you have to justify that it will meet all the regulatory requirements and, again, that it will reduce emissions, that it will help keep the air clean and that it's on the up and up to protect the environment. That's what the EPA did. Now, all they did was they came to us, the local residents, and said that they were going to do this and we said "Hey, we've got some concerns." They said "We're going to study it and take your concerns into account." They put in place a working group. We formed a citizens' group and we went to them and we told them how we felt about the project. That's what they did and now they're upset that we talked to them about it. This story that's out there now is that it's this kind of thing that bothers them, the fact that we talked to them. It's like we've been in on a secret. They're treating us like a bunch of old people. They're mad that we're talking to them. I think they're mad that they can't tell you and everybody else what it was that they were really doing. I'm told that the reason that they built this was that it was the only known source for chromium. And if they can get away with this and go ahead with it, if they can, they'll start finding other places. If they can, they'll start sending this stuff off to every factory in the world. So

Q: How to set up a search history list in a SharePoint list I have a standard list in SharePoint. Each item has a field which has a list of people. The people column is structured like this: Name | Display Name I'd like to add an additional column that gives me a user defined "search history". This column would be structured like this: Name | Display Name | Search History When I add a new item I would like to give it the default search history, but with it's own table row. Is this possible? If possible, I would like the user to be able to edit the search history when editing a new item. I would even be fine if the search history could be deleted from the new/edit item, so that the new/edit list item doesn't already have an example of that user's search history. A: You can do this with workflow and the SharePoint Designer workflow editor. You can create an action that takes the item you are editing and the SearchHistory option and saves it into a new list, which can then be used as the search history of that item. The StartEdit action of the workflow should look something like this: The CreateItem action of the workflow should look something like this: Note that you have to enter the ItemCreationInformation and the ItemData web parts to retrieve the author/edit permission level of the item you are trying to save. If you need to do this quickly, you can use the JavaScript to do it. Q: How to extract data from online JSON website and print it? Here is the link to test site: Below is the code I am using to test: # -*- coding: utf-8 -*- import json import urllib2 import urllib listeningurl = "" response = urllib2.urlopen(listeningurl) datahtml = response.read() print datahtml The code will print: [{"test": "Hello", "env": "naturally", "datahtml": "Hello World"}] How can I extract the data and print it? A: The
