FIFA is EA SPORTS' most popular sports series and available to millions of fans around the world. Play the authentic game on TV, PC, mobile, tablet and consoles, using intuitive gameplay and unparalleled authenticity. EA SPORTS' FIFA franchise is the best-selling football videogame series of all time. The latest installment, FIFA 20, was the best-selling sports videogame in the UK for the last two months in a row. FIFA 20 won the BAFTA award for Sports Game of the Year and PEGI certified. Microenvironment-responsive upconversion of  $\text{La}_{1-x}\text{Sr}_x\text{MnO}_3:\text{Yb}^{3+}$  ( $x=0, 0.25$ ) nanocrystals. The effects of Ga and Mg co-doping on the nanocrystal microenvironment were investigated in  $\text{La}_{(1-x)}\text{Sr}_x\text{MnO}_3$  (LMSO): $\text{Yb}^{3+}$  ( $x=0, 0.25$ ) microcrystalline powders, which have been synthesized by a co-precipitation process using aqueous solution. The co-doping was found to produce a more uniform microenvironment for particles having an average particle size of  $\sim 1 \mu\text{m}$ . The upconversion spectra of LMSO doped with Ga, Mg and both ions at low concentrations (5 and 10 at.%) showed that there is an enhancement of the emission intensity at lower excitation power and with increasing Ga and Mg concentrations. Increased upconversion intensity and fluorescence lifetime were observed in the case of Ga doping compared to Mg doping. An increase of the emission intensity from the doping was attributed to the more uniform microenvironment in the latter case. A fluorescent quantum yield ( $\Phi$ ) of  $\sim 21.9\%$  was observed for Ga-doped LMSO: $\text{Yb}^{3+}$  microcrystalline powder. A higher  $\Phi$  of  $\sim 36.8\%$  was observed for Mg-doped LMSO: $\text{Yb}^{3+}$  powder. To the best of our knowledge, this is the first study where a systematic investigation of the effect of co-doping on the microenvironment of nanocrystals has been performed using a phase-matching technique. That is a plus and a minus. You can play the game with the achievements or without them. But some games are made to have them. You will see some games that have achievements in stats like avg speed, longest sprint and most tackles in a single player match.. This game has no achievements and did you really mean you need to have them? Lol I agree. There are some that do but not many of them at all. A lot of them are just there to make life difficult for you. On the other hand not having them is a good thing. It looks like it does not include the achievements in the player stats. ## What's new:

- TOUSBALLS: You can now score a goal off a free kick once per game.
- ZONBOARD: You will be hit harder from headers and balls received from heading.
- TACTICS: Your basic tactics (press together one way in the match), is now called “tactics (attack together)”.
- SIX NEEDS: Increase your chances of scoring: keep the ball longer and out pace the opposing team, dribble, use GK to counterattack, ghost in for a quick free kick or chip, use LFB to clear defenders, and either shoot for the back post or hand it off to an attacker before a defence reacts.
- NO NEED TO HEAD TO A CHAMBER: With DEFENDER COUNTING NEXT, you won't have to head to a defensive shell to clear defenders off the ball. Double press to stop a counter. And you can return via a reverse pass.
- FIRST TIME ONLINE GAME: Chelsea vs Wolves.
- CHOOSE YOUR ATTACKER: Over their career, 3 attackers step up their game in one of their 4 attacking positions. Balotelli-Fighting, Kane-Super sub, Bale-Off poacher, and Bendtner-Finisher.
- SAVE TIME ON GK CHANGES: Your GK is active for the entire match, but you only have to select the GK you want from your kit.
- THROW YOUR BOWL EVERY 10 MINUTE: Your throw-in is active for the rest of the match. Elite Throw-ins are still under IMPACT and can be interrupted.
- DON'T LOOK AHEAD! PLAY NOW GUARD: When the ball comes to you in an oddball location, treat it as an oddball event. Flick it, whack it, or jump on it. You'll find that many habits you built in previous FIFA live on in new ways.
