Explore underground levels, fight hordes of monsters and unlock improved weapons and armour. How to play Endless Crawler: Move your mouse to the right to look at the screen and control the mouse with the right button. Press the space bar to shoot. During the game the mouse is protected, so don't worry about that. If you have any questions, suggestions or want to share the joy with us, contact us via Facebook, YouTube, website, Google+, Tumblr, Twitter, Instagram, or via e-mail at . See you underground! You wake up from a deep sleep that has kept you alive for years. Just in front of you is a white/black screen with no information. The only thing you will be presented with is a silhouette of the characters that are in the game. As you go through this adventure you will discover a world full of mysteries. The only way to solve these riddles will be to ask the characters for more and more information. Your goal is to make sure that you find out who you are and how you got into this bleak situation. An adventure is about to begin. You awaken after a deep sleep, but you don't understand where you are. You are thrown into a world full of puzzles, challenges, and dangers. You will do everything you can to discover who you are and where you live. Endless Agony is a First-Person Horror game that tells the story of Robert, a young man, who wakes up on a gothic tower after an unexplained fall of many years. As a curious man, he is determined to climb to the top of the tower and reach the door of the last room, which will lead him out of the tower and into the sunlight. One day, you and your parents get a strange call from an unfamiliar number. You can't understand much of what they're saying, but it seems that you were supposed to come to the Garden of Eden, which is under some sort of siege. You are the only one left in the city who can save the world, and even more important, you need to save your family. Star Traders is a tactical space trading game, similar to StarCraft, that puts you at the helm of a star vessel filled with trading posts. In order to make money, you will have to equip new space stations in order to train new captains, hire more crew members and raid other star systems.

*Warning: For AAA titans only. For everyone else, it's drama in a bottle. *This video game delivers the most realistic depiction of a psychedelic experience you've ever seen. Our goal in developing this project was to create a documentary like game that everyone could play. While the game exists within our minds, the in-game actions we choose as well as the changes our characters undergo actually happen, as they are happening right now in the world. Our characters are living, breathing, experiencing amazing things. As the story unfolds, you will see the effect of these experiences on the people, real-life and fictional, our characters meet. Some of the things our character experiences have no factual basis, but it was necessary to make the story work without it being forced. The characters are non-linear, their experiences change based on your decisions. This game was developed for all styles and skill levels. Features: - Realistic psychedelic experience - Psychological choices affect the story - Actual marijuana

The red snake is known to be the most successful drug lord in S.China.He is far from a no-good father who loves his son. He wants to make his son the next generation of red snakes and makes sure that his son is well-prepared for life.The game features eight stories in which you play a young boy who is trying to escape from prison, but none of those eight stories are playable.Story and Path to Light: It is only possible to escape from prison by using the four different escape paths in the game. It is only possible to escape after picking up all the clues left by the dead guards.Escape path 1: Green Beep: Pick up an incoming call from a call girl. After she is dead, you can choose to use her information to find out where there is a hidden passage. When you are trapped in the light, your only option is to use the prison's phone system to call for help. Escape path 2: Secret In The Documents: There is a faint outline left on the wall of the prison. This hint leads to the third escape path. After you escape from the light, look for the documents that were hidden by the guards. This is the key that will let you pass the first obstacle in this path. There is also a hidden tunnel in this path that leads to the prison guard's room. Escape path 3: Danger The guards are suspicious: Since the guards are suspicious of your being escorted by a girl, they will not let you leave until you have cleared your encounters with the guards on your way to the meeting point. If you have lost the key to the first story, you need to search for the remaining keys from the other guards. This path is blocked by an electric fence. Escape path 4: The Sticky Thread: There is a glowing thread on the wall that can only be accessed through the cleaning closet. There is a small map that shows the location of the closet and the message in the thread. After you find the cleaning closet, pick up the thread that can only be accessed through that closet. The path then allows you to escape from the prison. Note: You can't escape if you have already killed all of the guards. You can't escape if you do not pick up any of the clues left behind by the dead guards. You can't escape if you do not collect any of the keys from the guards. You can't escape if you have already found all of the keys that are needed to

was a planned community with about 7,000 homes, in the Santa Rosa Plateau region. The community was composed of large homes on large lots; most homes were originally priced at $20,000 and were under $80,000 as they remain today. The average home size in the community is about 3,000 square feet. In early 2010 when homes for sale signs began to appear on homes in Llama, many of the inhabitants of this small community felt as if the second housing bubble that began in 2007 was beginning to burst. Homes for sale Santa Rosa residents initially looked to Llama as a safe haven and investment. The community was one of the largest planned towns on the west side of the Central Coast. However, as real estate prices dropped and home values plummeted, countywide sales stuttered; sales were recorded at houses within Llama Village just twelve of the 57 sales that occurred in Sonoma County from January 2008 to December 2009. History On October 26, 1985, Llama Sr. and Bernice Polo formed Llama Enterprises, Inc. to plan and construct a planned community in Llama. "Bernice, along with a team of professionals, began the arduous task of converting land in a 2,000-acre ranch in Santa Rosa into a truly remarkable city." Their property was located on the western side of Sonoma Valley, with a vista of the Santa Cruz Mountain Range. These were some of the first planned communities to be built on the Central Coast. Llama Enterprises failed in their attempts to sell homes to the public for the construction of the community. Llama Enterprises, Inc. filed for bankruptcy protection. In 1994 Llama Enterprises, Inc. wound up trying to get outstanding loans paid back, failing, and then went out of business. Bernice and Llama Sr. Polo did not stop with their failed efforts to build Llama. They partnered with developer, Robert Thut, who went on to try to build Anthem Property Co. in the name of Llama Enterprises, Inc. The Llama project was to be a community of 65,000 homes with a "sophisticated infrastructure" that would include of open space, a man-made lake, art facilities, active recreational facilities, and a library. Bernice purchased land from the now defunct Llama Enterprises, Inc. and in 1996 launched her own company that tried to sell land for the site of Llama, "South of Mare Island Real
