Mar 19, 2017 - 5 min - Uploaded by AMCHI MUMBAI Kairali TV"Pallivalu Bhadravattakam" . Sx32w.dll For Atoll 3.1 19 it is made for windows. Its a special type of software which has to be installed for a network security. This software is not freely available. A: Your Windows Software License Terms states that: User may install a maximum of 5 (five) serial numbers of this program for use by any one user within a single organization at a single site If you are running a publicly accessible website, this is an obvious violation. If you are running an internal website, it may be technically more challenging to detect that, because (depending on the network card) the computer may show up to 5 distinct IP addresses (which can be attributed to the physical router, the dns server and the possible ISP-provided DNS-over-HTTP server) so you could theoretically have even hundreds of users at a single site. If your internet is connected to a public cloud, there is no way to guarantee that a separate IP address can be tracked down to just your website (but if you can, you should definitely do so). Also, in the "Common Problems and Solutions" section, there is a list of "common scenarios" which you have already hit: "The program is accessible over the Internet." You are connecting to a public cloud, meaning the IP is one that can be dynamically assigned to any of your clients. "The program is accessible on a local area network." You have an internal network, and your clients are in that local area network. Solution?
