

Ff Fight Omega

in order to prevent omega from using meteor, the player must use an attack that goes through omega's armor. the most effective is a fire 3. it's extremely rare to actually get an omega to go through fire 3, so it's also possible to use water 3 to counter meteor. one way to win is to use thunder 3 to hit omega. this combo may only work once per round, but it will hit with a near-100% success rate. if a thunder 3 user in the party does not have thunder 3, the thunder 4 option can be used instead. it will hit with a slightly lower rate, but it will cost a thunder 5, which usually can be more easily used. the party is dealt 15 damage from terra break, and from it receives only a single hp. however, if omega is defeated before gravija, the party will be given a quick opportunity to cast another limit break, and the damage received from terra break will be halved. this will not be the case in the case of an unmodified full boost. terra break is omega's special attack. it is a powerful physical attack that deals substantial damage and allows for weak characters to receive an instant kill. this is the enemy's second-to-last attack, and is vital to defeating omega. terra break is a special move that deals substantial damage to the player and allows weak characters to receive an instant kill. this is the enemy's second-to-last attack, and is vital to defeating omega. omega uses it to teleport to the floor, and then proceed to attack the player with its unique attacks. this is a high-risk, high-reward strategy as omega's next attack will always be gravija, which will deal massive damage to those caught in its wake.
