microsoft provides windows 7, windows 8, and windows 10 enterprise operating systems to businesses, government institutions, and schools. windows 10 enterprise includes many of the same options and settings as windows 10 home. for example, you can use windows defender on a windows 10 enterprise pc. pcs with windows 7 enterprise, windows 8 enterprise, and windows 10 enterprise can be upgraded to a later edition, if you have a valid license key. (for example, you can upgrade from windows 7 enterprise to windows 7 professional or windows 7 ultimate.) important: if you are installing the enterprise version of windows 10 on pcs that came with windows 7 professional, windows 8 professional, or windows 8.1 professional, your pc will upgrade to the home version of windows 10. see the system requirements table for how the version of windows you are upgrading affects the minimum memory, hard disk space, and other system requirements. the target system must be connected to a local network. for a demonstration, you can connect the target system to the local network by installing the microsoft network adapter driver (as of windows 10, version 2004). we recommend that you use the automatic activation settings. this is the default and easiest setting for a one-time activation. you can also specify whether you would like to perform a pc activation when the machine is restarted. if you wish to perform an in-place upgrade, that is, to upgrade to windows 10 rather than to a windows 10 version other than version 2004, the installation of the files will be performed in a way that preserves the settings on the computer. if you want to do a full reinstallation, this is not a supported upgrade path for windows 10 enterprise edition. 5ec8ef588b
